PROJECT AND MULTI-DISCIPLINARY LEARNING

The confines of the lesson are often frustrating for both teacher and learner. This practically based course is perfect for middle-leaders or senior teachers who want to encourage students to work more independently and bring more of their life experiences to the outcomes of school work. A perfect opportunity to use the distractions of TV and/or mobile phone, project based learning can help to change student behaviours to much more positive ends, this course will help you to introduce this method to your teaching teams.

COURSE CONTENT

- Cross curricular approaches – opportunities and pitfalls
